The Battle of Neighborhoods

Introduction

New York City (shortened to NYC), is located in the state of New York and is the largest city in the United States. New York City has over 8 million people currently living in it, and over 22 million people live in the bigger New York metropolitan area. It is the most densely populated and most diverse City in the United States of America. It is the financial capital of the US since it is home to the nation's stock market, Wall Street, and the One World Trade Center. As a leading global city; New York exerts culture, media and capital internationally, As many as 800 languages are spoken in New York, making it the most linguistically diverse city in the world. New York has more than 3.2 million people born outside the United States, the biggest foreign-born population of any city in the world as of 2016. The city is made up of 5 boroughs: Manhattan, Brooklyn, Queens, the Bronx and Staten Island.

Business Problem

As New York City has many immigrants from all over the world, they each have their propensity to eat the cuisine from their own country of origin.
I will be looking into the restaurants that provide good Indian cuisine for all the Indian community to enjoy. Also, there are many tourists from India, who also visit New York City regularly and would want to have information about good local Indian restaurants. Furthermore, this information will help the local residents of New York City also.
Therefore, The Problems I will be trying to answer are :
• Which neighborhood in New York City has the most Indian restaurants?
• Which neighborhood in New York City has the best average rating for Indian restaurants?